

Deobald Cousins Gathered in Coeur d'Alene

Maribel Samuelson

Coeur d'Alene—Several generations of Deobald cousins and their spouses gathered at the Blackwell House here Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, to catch up on family news, and reminisce over old and recent family pictures. All are descendants of Charles and Mary Deobald who settled on American Ridge in 1893. She will be remembered as "Grossmama."

Attending from Kendrick were Charles Deobald and John and Gwen (Cook) Deobald. Youngest at the '96 cousins get-together was two-month-old Hope Sawyer, who came with her great-grandmother, Ann Deobald Keene, her mother, Anne (Saldana) and Shankia, her two-year-old sister. They came from the Moses Lake area.

Cousins from the greatest distance were Marian (Schupfer) Meyer, daughter Judy Gardner and grandson Richie Meyer of Southern California, Mariana (Bechtol) Winn and Steve Samuelson from the Seattle area.

Others were John and Arlene Deobald Wallace from Whitefish, Montana, Ted and Barbara (White) Deobald from Richland, Bill and Beulah (Draper) Deobald from Moscow; Denny and Nancy Deobald from Harvard, Glenn Samuelson of Moscow, Ken and Maribel (Schupfer) Samuelson and John Samuelson of Post Falls.

Highlights of the reunion included singing around the piano, and taking turns playing the board game "Jenga," which tests the players in their ability of steadiness of hand and balance. Judy brought the game along but various others had played before. Some cousins stayed up until nearly midnight engrossed in its challenge.

On the mansion's patio after breakfast, Ted read a copy of the humorous letter which had been presented at the anniversary celebration of Ann and Tom Keene in Kahlottus several years ago. Entitled "How To Make Money By NOT Raising Pigs" it had been amplified by Tom from a popular spoof circulating around then.

Excerpts of a long poem relating to a week-long family trip on the Olympic Peninsula in 1940 were read by Maribel, who had written it as a journal of the event. On this particular excursion were all five Bechtols, four Schupfers and Ann Deobald. Various snap shots to illustrate the trip were also shown, including one of the four young teenagers sideways in a bed on the floor. The foursome were Betty, Ann, Marian and Maribel.

Along the route that week the group had hunted up many friends and family, waded in the ocean, observed fishermen catching crab, rented a row boat taking turns using it, and picnicked on the beaches. Otto Schupfer had attended a telephone convention at the Columbia River Hotel in Hood River, Oregon, before the Idaho group joined the Bechtols to travel.

At the '96 reunion, some cousins also played badminton and walked on the board around the big hotel. Teenager Richie used his skateboard whenever he could find a cement slab that was empty of people. He had carried it with him on the airplane from his home to Spokane.

An original watercolor painting by Mariana of the old Daughters house on American Ridge and a small book of her poems were presented by her to Maribel. Her poem "Daddy" was a tribute to her father, Elmer Bechtol, who had been a furniture store owner and mortician in Kendrick in the '30s. Memoirs of Edwardine (Bechtol) Miller and two of her large paintings were on display, even though she and her husband, Clyde, who generally always attend Deobald cousin events were unable to attend due to health reasons of both of them.

The Blackwell House is a restored 1904 mansion on Sherman Avenue, the main east-west street in Coeur d'Alene. Its owner Kathy Sims and innkeeper Marge Hoy treated the cousins like family. Buttons, the resident dog, even enjoyed the activities of the reunion and received a share of the attention.

Kathy had collected antiques for years and with no place in her small house to store them all, was attracted to the big, three-story rundown mansion. The roomy downstairs had been partitioned for small offices, since a government agency was one of the occupants. For two years, Kathy and Marge's daughter, Elizabeth, put in long hours of labor into the restoration. They used gallons of paint remover on the magnificent hard wood staircase to the second floor to uncover the beautiful hardwood and restore it to its original state. The two women hung more than 250 rolls of wall paper in the mansion.

The house sleeps 20 and is often

Grange to Host "Get to Know Your Neighbor" Potluck Saturday, July 20

Kendrick Grange No. 413 in cooperation with the J-K Recreation District is hosting a community potluck dinner on Saturday, July 20 at the Grange Hall. The theme of the potluck is "Get to Know Your Neighbor."

It seems that with all of the new people moving into the area, too many of us can't recognize our neighbors when we pass them on the street. It also seems that a lot of new-comers haven't had a chance to meet and acquaint themselves with the fine people of this region.

In an effort to correct that situation, the Grange wants to invite all the residents from Kendrick, Juliaetta, Leland, Cameron, Hubbard Gulch, and the surrounding ridges to a potluck on July 20. It doesn't matter if you're a longtime resident or just moved in yesterday, come on down with your family and meet your neighbors. If you don't know your neighbors, invite them down and talk with them over dinner.

The Grange will be setting up some charcoal grills outside for barbecuing and welcoming all those who would like to join us.

Next week we'll provide further information on times and activities planned.

"No Bare Hands" Policy Now in Effect in Idaho Food Establish.

On July 1, all food establishments in Idaho are being required to implement a "No Bare Hands" policy for employees who handle certain types of food. Employees must use single-use gloves, deli paper, or suitable utensils when:

— Handling "moist" ready-to-eat foods. Ready-to-eat foods are foods which are in a form that are edible without washing, cooking, or additional preparation by the food establishment or consumer, and is reasonably expected to be consumed in that form. Such foods include, but are not limited to the following:

Sandwich ingredients
Ingredients and final product of prepared cold salads (meat, fishery products, pasta, potato, eggs, etc.)
Leaf salad ingredients, cut fruit and vegetables
Cold serving meat, poultry and fishery products

— Handling edible ice with hands or using any unsuitable utensil (or drinking utensil) which would allow the fingers to come in contact with the ice.

— Handling any ready-to-eat food that may contact "moist" potentially hazardous food and be held under refrigeration for more than 24 hours.

— Handling any food in ready-to-eat form where demographic characteristics of the consumers dictate extra precautions (hospitals, nursing homes, etc.)

Paul Guenther, Environmental Health Director for the North Central District Health Department, noted that this policy was drawn up by the Idaho Bureau of Environmental Health and Safety, in cooperation with the food industry and the seven Health Districts in the state. All food establishments were notified of the requirement during the month of April.

Any questions should be directed to the NCDHD offices in Lewiston, Moscow, Orofino or Grangeville.

Park News

By Jody Smith

The weekend rains had several beneficial effects: watering the grain and hay crops, re-vitalizing pastures, and settling the dust and pollen. We can breathe again!

Shutterbugs take note: the wild flowers are especially beautiful this year.

Clinton and Ethel Smith attended an auction at Harvard Saturday. On Sunday about 50 relatives and friends gathered at Hareth Park in Lewiston for a surprise celebration of the Smith's 40th wedding anniversary. The actual date was June 10, while they were on their vacation trip, which further enabled their daughters, Leah of Moscow and Kaye of Lewiston, to set up the potluck picnic as a total surprise. Ethel visited Mrs. Margaret Racicot in Deary Monday afternoon.

Jody Smith attended the memorial service for Dennis Racicot in Moscow Saturday. Don Smith, Moscow, visited his brother Jerry that day.

Walter Hunt invented the safety pin in 1854.

Heart Attack Claims Ira Havens June 22

Ira Havens an American Ridge native, died Saturday, June 22 of a heart attack at his home in Lewiston. He was 61.

He was born January 29, 1935, on American Ridge to George and Martha Brammer Havens. He grew up there and graduated from Kendrick High School in 1953.

While attending school, he played football, basketball and baseball. He worked in the woods as a logger for a short time and then as a farm hand for Gordon Peters in Leland.

He married Vickie Smith at Lewiston in the early 1960s and they were later divorced.

He moved to Lewiston in 1960 and worked as a heavy equipment salesman for Nez Perce Tractor, Long Machinery, and Tisco, all at Lewiston, and Western States at Colfax.

His hobbies were hunting, fishing, traveling the Northwest and bowling.

He also enjoyed spending time at his cabin on Coeur d'Alene Lake.

He was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church at Lewiston.

Survivors include three brothers, Ted Havens of Lewiston and Charles Clarkston; his stepmother, Elizabeth Havens of Clarkston; and three step-brothers, Eric Stauber of Genesee, UIF Stauber, a California resident, and Wolfgang Stauber, a resident of Germany.

The funeral will be a 10 a. m. Thursday, at Malcom's Brower-Wann Memorial Chapel at Lewiston. Burial will follow at Lewis-Clark Memorial Gardens at Lewiston.

Memorials may be made to the Kendrick High School athletic Dept.

Kendrick Main Street Project to Begin Soon

Poe Asphalt Paving of Lewiston, the prime contractor for the reconstruction of Kendrick's Main Street announced this week that work on the project would begin soon.

A public letter distributed Monday said the company will work as quickly as possible throughout the entire project to minimize the impact to the community.

According to Poe's project manager, Bruce Scherling, the company will have a public meeting each Monday at 9 a. m. at the fire hall where questions may be asked and project information will be available.

Poe's has asked that persons with children, pets and vehicles to be extra careful when passing through the construction area.

K-J Farmers Market Friday, June 28 Offers Variety of Activities

Phyllis Berg, Organizer

Get ready for a safe and exciting 4th of July with Firework Safety Tips and Demonstrations from 4 to 4:30 at the J-K Farmers Market on Friday, June 28. The market, held at the Kendrick City Park, will begin an hour earlier than usual, running from 1 to 7. Along with learning and sharing about fireworks safety at the Kendrick City Park, enjoy International Joke Day, with entertaining speakers from 3:30 to 4 p. m. The main speaker will be Susan Butts, Community Development Manager at the Lewiston Area Agency on the Aging and Kendrick United Methodist Church pastor.

Also plan to attend the Master Gardeners final presentation on "Fruit Tree Diseases", from 2 to 3 in the park gazebo. The County Extension Agency has provided the three-part gardening information series.

In addition, two Kendrick Walking Tours will be offered during Friday's market, starting at 12:45 and 4:45, beginning from the market sign table. The 45-minute tours will feature information on the history of various local businesses and residences. The cost of a tour is 25 cents for the tour pamphlet. Each tour will be conducted with a minimum of 5 people.

These activities are in addition to the craft and produce vendors who provide a variety of high quality merchandise at each of the Friday markets. The market season will continue, weekly, until August 30—Don't miss out!

Children and adults are needed to contribute "non-offensive" jokes or humor skits for the International Joke Day, Friday, June 28, from 3:30 to 4:00 at the J-K Farmers Market. Also children are invited to participate in the Fireworks Safety presentation, which immediately follows from 4 to 4:30. They can draw pictures or help with murals on fireworks safety or July 4th celebrations.

Volunteers are needed for the July market to head each of the following recognition days: Salute to Juliaetta, July 12; Salute to Kendrick, July 19; and Dinosaur Days, (last full week of July), July 28.

Also, anyone wishing to share Kendrick or Juliaetta photos, historical information, amusing anecdotes, or short essays on "What Makes Juliaetta or Kendrick Special or Unique" please contact Phyllis Berg 289-5302, Cynthia Nye 276-3121 (or Bill Roth (Gazette) 289-5731.

Denzil Kuykendall, Leland Native, Passes June 21

Denzil V. Kuykendall, 98, a farmer and former fire warden for the Potlatch Timber Protective Association, died of causes related to age Friday, June 21, at Valley Rehabilitation and Care Center at Lewiston.

He was born April 20, 1898, at Leland, Idaho, to James and Myrtle Wright Kuykendall. He attended school at Fairview School District near Leland. During World War I he served in the U. S. Marine Corps.

He married Marie S. Koepp March 28, 1921, at Spokane. They farmed near Leland until 1942, when they moved to Southwick, Idaho, and farmed there. He retired from farming in 1968.

He also worked for the Potlatch Timber Protective Association from 1949 until 1966, most of those years as fire warden.

After retiring, they moved to Lewiston, but stayed active working at hunting camps with their sons and operating a summer camp for school children.

He was a lifetime member of the Teakene Grange and a member of Orchards United Methodist Church at Lewiston. He enjoyed rock collecting, hunting, fishing and spending time outdoors.

Survivors include his wife, Marie S. Kuykendall of Lewiston; one daughter, Ernestine M. Berg of Prescott, Wash.; three sons, Gene E. Kuykendall of Lewiston, Herman C. Kuykendall of Peck, and Gerald L. Kuykendall of Weston, Ore.; 12 grandchildren; 20 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

One daughter, Elberta Holliday, and four brothers, Elbert, Lloyd, Wayne and Jack Kuykendall, died previously.

The funeral was held Tuesday at Brower-Wann Memorial Chapel at Lewiston with the Rev. John Hunsberger of Orchards United Methodist Church officiating. Burial followed at Lewis-Clark Memorial Gardens.

Memorial may be made to Orchards United Methodist Church.

Roy Silflows Observed Fortieth Anniversary

Roy and Doris Silflow enjoyed having all their children home over last weekend to help celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary.

All coming home were Ray and Penny Thompson and family of Kent, Wash.; Debra Wishard and boys of Federal Way, Wash.; Diane and Dale Ines and family of Newman Lake, Wash.; Randy and Kippy Silflow and son of St. Maries, Ida. Also here Sunday were Mike Silflow and girls, Doug and Laina Silflow and family; Jim and Bonnie Silflow and family; Richard Silflow, John Silflow, Selina Williams and family. Also here were Bob and Joan Ling-enfelder (Doris' brother), of Port Orchard, Wash, Fritz Flomer of Moscow, and Jean Wegner.

From Art and Maxine

We want to thank our many friends and family who have been so helpful and kind during and following Art's recent hospital stay. The visits, cards, calls, and numerous acts of kindness have been most appreciated and have been an encouragement to both of us.

God Bless you all,
Art and Maxine Foster

"No" Is Not a Four-Letter Word

By Karen Kirkham
Counselor/School Psychologist
Kendrick Jt. School Dist. 283

Children need to know that their parents are able to say "no" and mean it. However it is unusual for them to thank us for having the strength to set limits for them. Instead they usually do all they can to test those limits.

This can be confusing. Why are our children so testy when we are doing what is best for them? Limits provide the security they need to develop self-confidence.

Those children who lack external controls often misbehave in various ways. It is their attempt to force us to provide the limits that will allow them to feel confident about their place in the world. Children with little or no external controls also often suffer from low self-esteem.

It appears that children test us to make sure that the limits are firm enough to provide the security they need. Each youngster seems to have his or her own special testing routine. Some kids use anger, some use guilt, and some are sneaky. Others prefer to forget things as a way of testing our resolve when we say "no."

Kids never say, "Thanks, Dad. I feel a lot more secure now that I know you mean what you say. I appreciate you loving me enough to set limits."

Instead, they may pout, complain, stomp around, run to their rooms, whine, or talk back. This often leaves parents angry and confused.

It helps to remember that children hear the word "no," in some form, about 77% of the time. No wonder our children get sick of hearing it. The word "no" just seems to be a "call to arms." In other words "no" is a fighting word.

Youngsters often wage war against "no" in a very subtle way. They try to get the parent to do all the thinking while they stand back and judge the quality of the work. They know that parents who are busy reasoning with them have neither the time or energy to win the battle.

Caring parents feel guilty about saying "no" and are soon hooked into a lot of thinking and explaining. All the youngster has to do is interrupt from time to time with, "But Dad, it's just not fair! You just don't understand." In no time the parent who is doing all the work, is worn down to the point of giving in: "Oh, all right, Take it! But this is the last time. Don't ask me again."

You can turn the tables on children, forcing them to do most of the thinking. This happens when you replace "no" to one thing by saying "yes" to something else. This is called using "thinking words" instead of "fighting words". Compare the two approaches in the following examples:

Fighting words: "You can't go out to play until you practice your lessons."

Thinking words: "Yes, you can go out to play as soon as you practice your lessons."

Fighting words: "You can't watch TV until your chores are done."

Thinking words: "You may watch TV as soon as your chores are done."

Most youngsters try to argue when confronted with "thinking words." However, you now have the ammunition to win since you started the conversation with "yes" instead of "no."

You now hold the "state of the art" in arguing in your hands. No matter what your youngster says, simply agree that it is probably true. Then add the word "and" followed by your first sentence.

Parents would be more successful if they could force the child to do all the thinking. Here's how it's done:

Teen: "I need the car to go skiing."

Dad: "Feel free to use it as soon as your gas bill is paid up."

Teen: "But Dad, I promised my friends."

Dad: "I'm sure that's true — and feel free to use it as soon as you get it paid."

Teen: "Yes, but then I won't have money for the lift ticket."

Dad: "I bet that's true, too — and feel free to use it as soon as you get it paid."

Teen: "Gee! All you can think about is money!"

Dad: "That could be true, too — and—"

Teen: "Yes, I know. Don't say it again!"

It is rewarding to discover that this technique, called negative assertion, can eliminate fights with our children. Just think how well it may work on the adults at work!

Kendrick FFA Chapter Is State Winner

An FFA team from Kendrick High School composed of Janel Silflow, Darbi Kechter and Carolyn Carter, has been named the Idaho state winner in the National FFA Organization's Commodity Marketing Activity.

The Commodity Marketing Activity is an integrated classroom activity that helps students gain a realistic commodity market experience. Teams of students are given a model farm with nine different commodities to choose from, they decide when to buy and sell these products to achieve the greatest economic gain. Orders are called to a "broker" and the trade is recorded. Real prices and market conditions are experienced but no money is exchanged or risked.

The specific objectives of the activity helps students: (1) learn the decision-making process; (2) practice various methods of marketing farm products; (4) understand various career opportunities in marketing; (5) use applied mathematics in marketing; (6) understand terms and strategies of various marketing methods; (7) experience the mechanics of trading, and (8) have a "real-world" marketing experience.

At the conclusion of the trading period, a test is administered to each of the teams that covers commodity marketing principles and practices used in the futures market. The teams' scores for both the trading activity and the test are combined and the state winner is then determined.

Each participating team will receive a certificate and the winning team will receive a $100 or $300 scholarship based on the number of teams participating. Scholarship moneys will be divided among the team members and a plaque will be presented to the school.

One day last week Adaline and Sonja shopped in Kendrick. Nancy Swanson of Moscow picked up Adaline around noon on Saturday and took her back to Moscow to be a part of the wedding of her grandson Owen Swanson and Leah Heimgartner. She also attended the reception at the Kendrick VFW Hall. Sonja and Adaline shopped in Kendrick on Sunday and they were in Lewiston Tuesday morning. Nancy and Lee Swanson were visitors Sunday evening. Dixie and Bob Porter were Tuesday afternoon callers.

Friday evening Buddy and Alice Henson and Marnie, Chelsey and Bryce, and Chad and Tiffany Henson and sons Jake and Jarrod, attended the wedding rehearsal dinner for Leah Heimgartner and Owen Swanson, hosted by the groom's parents, Lee and Nancy Swanson in Moscow. On Saturday they all attended the wedding held at the First Methodist Church in Moscow. Tony and Kelli Henson and Jordan of Quincy, Wa. were weekend guests.

Monday Milton and Marie Grant went to Lewiston. They visited Marie's father, Wm. Briere and he treated them to lunch out.

On Father's Day, Richard and Fonda Wilson visited with Muriel and Lowell Hubbard. The Hubbards visited with their friends Vern Henson and Delores Dunning in Pullman Monday. They stopped and visited Marsha Schroeffler before returning home.

Grotzinger and Glenda Wilson tried out the new Red Lobster restaurant in Lewiston.

Dareld and Julie Hazeltine had a wonderful time on their vacation at Glacier Park last week.

Gerald and Lee Halseth attended the state V. F. W. convention in Lewiston last week. Gerald and Lee reported that Baker-Lind Post 3913 did very well at the event.

After the convention Gerald and Lee had lunch with Ben and Betty Chisholm. They have returned home with grandson Derrik who is visiting this week.

Ron and Kathy Jones enjoyed time on Samish Island this past week at a church family camp.

Maxine and Harmon Somers spent this past week with mother Ruth Slind. They enjoyed visiting and helping with chores.

Elaine and Eddie Galloway traveled to western Washington this past week for a family reunion in Sedro Woolley. They also enjoyed sightseeing and visiting with family and friends.

News from Meal Site

By Marjorie Cobb

Kari Galloway kindly presented a repeat showing of the L. J. K. Arts Commission Historical Slide Show for the seniors at Kendrick Mealsite Friday, June 7. Those who missed this show on Locust Blossom Festival Day appreciated being able to enjoy the interesting pictures.

Don McDowell of Moscow brought great enjoyment on the Hammond organ, playing many solos and requested numbers. He finished the musical program with organ-piano duets with both LenaBelle Morgan and Lucille Magnuson.

On June 12, Ralph Zeigler of Moscow read his original poems to entertain the crowd. His humorous verse kept everyone in a laughing mood.

On Friday, wonderful old pictures of fathers made the program very nostalgic as each one was identified. Ten local fathers were in attendance and the three eldest received beautiful balloons.

Attendance has averaged 40 with 10 receiving home deliveries.

Lucky winners were Jean Wegner, Midge Drayton, Shirlee Richey and Gladys Wilson.

We can escape from the level of society, but not from the level of intelligence to which we were born.
