Kendrick, Juliaetta Hope to Develop Tree Programs

With the support and encouragement of the city councils, both Juliaetta and Kendrick hope to develop comprehensive tree programs in their communities. The first steps were taken February 28 at a meeting in Kendrick to hear representatives of the Idaho Department of Lands Forest advisors explain how the state can aid such a project. Craig Foss, a community forestry coordinator from Coeur d'Alene, and Mary Nedoma, a forest practices advisor from Orofino met with nine interested persons from Kendrick and Juliaetta including two members of the Kendrick city council and a representative of the Juliaetta council.

Trees have always been an important part of the history of the two communities, especially Kendrick, and are recognized by the annual Locust Blossom Festival. The main street reconstruction in Kendrick and the Juliaetta Centennial Park in Juliaetta have made the cities more aware of the importance and need for an organized effort to improve and maintain this valuable asset. Two Kendrick council members, Kaye Morey and Lillian Howerton, and Rodney Cook, a Juliaetta city worker, assured those attending the Feb. 28 meeting of the seriousness and interest of their city's leaders.

Foss told his audience that while trees are expensive to put in, they only get more valuable with time. Locust trees once lined almost the entire main street of Kendrick. Many have since been lost because of disease, neglect, age and progress of new construction. During summer road work several more were removed, making the council want to take action. Juliaetta's new park, with its promise of being a valuable part of both communities, also focuses the need for a comprehensive program for now and the future.

There was $35,000 available in urban and community forestry grants in Idaho during 1996 to fund tree planting projects and develop community forestry programs. The $35,000 was split into two categories: $25,000 as available to aid communities in developing forestry programs or to conduct needed forestry projects; $10,000 was available to help fund community tree planting projects.

Examples of projects may include: Community entrance and main street landscaping, landscaping vacant lots along main street, tree plantings along walking or biking trails, residential streets and in city parks, hiring a forestry or landscape consultant for developing local project plans, training opportunities for city and/or park and community residents, or hiring a summer forestry apprentice for program activities.

Foss and Nedoma suggested that both towns do the following things first:

1. Form tree committees. Each town would have its own committee, because while there are common interests in this matter, each town will have its own ideas, plans and goals.
2. Develop plans of what they wish to do.
3. Develop legal authority. This means the ability to create ordinances if necessary.
4. Encourage the cities to celebrate Arbor Day.

At the meeting there seemed to be a general consensus that a tree program was desirable for both towns. As an initial step it was also agreed to do the following: 1. Do an inventory of the trees, mainly on public property, 2. Find out just what ordinances are actually on the books that affect trees and tree plantings and removal. Even the people present at the Feb. 28 meeting, that included both present and former council members, couldn't say with certainty, what ordinances are in the city codes. There was also an agreement that it might be good to find out what tree species might be best for the climate and soil, but this is something that can be investigated as the committee becomes established.

At the suggestion of councilman Howerton those who agreed to form at least temporarily a tree committee were Dana Magnuson, George Broeke, Dennis Lukehart, Bill Roth, and Bob Hassholdt. Rod Cook was the only representative from Juliaetta and he said he needed to report to the council there and leave other action to it.

Another meeting of the tree group will be Monday, March 17, at 7 p. m. and all interested persons (both towns) are encouraged to be present.

School Board Meets Mar. 13

The board of trustees of Kendrick Joint School District No. 283 will meet in regular session Thursday, March 13 at 7:30 p. m., in the school library.

School board meeting are open to the public and all interested persons are both invited and encouraged to attend.

Planning Continues for K-J Arts Committee's Mural Project

The Kendrick-Juliaetta Arts committee has nearly completed the initial planning for their mosaic tile mural project. The mural will be designed for and subsequently installed on the outside of the public restrooms across the street from the Kendrick City Park. The project will result in a lasting work of art, created with wide community participation.

Work on the mural will be directed by Maggi Fuhrman a local artist and teacher. Ms. Fuhrman owns and operates the Arrow Clayworks, a studio craft business at her home outside of Juliaetta. She has taught pottery and ceramic tile classes and workshop for over 20 years.

The mural project will proceed as follows: Ms. Fuhrman will meet with a core group of Kendrick junior and senior high school art students to jointly plan the mosaic design. The initial meeting is scheduled for March 17 in conjunction with an in-service workshop. Ms. Fuhrman will conduct the workshop at the Juliaetta Grade School. That workshop will also provide teachers with training which will enable them to assist students in creating class tile theme. Fuhrman will return no direct the students in transforming their drawings into tiles.

Those finished tiles will tentatively be available for viewing during this year's Locust Blossom Festival on May 31. Additional opportunities for designing individual tiles will be offered during the festival.

The tile mosaic project is being funded through the Idaho Commission on the Arts (ICA). That funding is through the Arts in Rural Towns Grant which the K-J Arts Committee has recently been selected to participate.

Young K-J Hoopsters Place Second at Tourney

Last week we had our own tourney in Kendrick. Teams were from Lapwai, Orofino, Clarkston, Nezperce, Troy and Kendrick-Juliaetta.

In our first game on Friday night we played Lapwai and won 49-46. It was a physical game with players pushing and shoving on both teams. Kendrick came out very aggressive and scored the first points of the game. The kids played very good defense and rebounded well.

Their next game was Saturday morning against Clarkston and we won 42-27. Everybody got to see a lot of action and everyone on the team scored. They played great defense, rebounded well, and ran the offense to get easy shots.

Their next victim was Orofino, which they won 42-24. Everybody got into the scoring action on this one as well. The kids showed great control, running the offense through and passing up wide open shots. They played great defense and showed a lot of sportsmanship.

Our next game was more exciting. We won 48-41 against Troy. We played excellent help defense and didn't allow Troy second chance shots. Everybody played about half a game and this helped to avenge a one point loss two weeks ago.

Sunday's championship game put us against Lapwai again. We came out flat and were not aggressive at all. At half time the score was 9-34. We made some adjustments and played better as a team than Friday's game. The final score was 33-62. One thing that hurt us was our 13 of 35 free throw shooting. Lapwai won the tournament, Kendrick took second, and Troy nabbed third place. It was a very good experience for our team to host its own tourney. They did a very good job.

Urban Forestry Committee Meeting Monday, Mar. 17

There will be a meeting of the Urban Forestry Committee Monday, March 17 at 7:00 p. m. at the Kendrick City Hall. Committee members and other interested persons from both Kendrick and Juliaetta are urged to attend.

Adaline S. Jassman, Last of Pioneer Family, Passes

Adaline Swanson Jassman, 85, the last child of a pioneer area family, died during surgery at Gritman Medical Center in Moscow, Sunday, March 9, 1997.

Adaline Sophia Dorendorf was born July 21, 1911 in a log cabin at Crescent, Idaho to Andrew and Minnie Dorendorf. She was the youngest of five brothers and five sisters. She attended school at Crescent through the eighth grade. She married Alfred Swanson on July 6, 1928 at Moscow. They lived a year with her parents before renting a house on Alderman Ridge from Johnny Miller. In 1942, they bought 80 acres from John Darby 5 miles northeast of Southwick on what is now called the Three Bear road. There they raised their three children. Alfred died of a heart attack November 13, 1957 at the age of 53.

In 1964, Adaline sold her acreage and moved to Juliaetta, Idaho. She worked at Seabrook Farms, now known as Twin City Foods, at Lewiston.

She married John Jassman, December 8, 1966. The marriage ended in divorce in 1975. She worked as a cook at Sitka, Alaska, for Lutz Logging, and as a cook's helper at the Paradise Villa Nursing home at Moscow. She retired in 1973 due to ill health.

Adaline loved to bake and cook, always having lots of prepared goodies for the company that would visit her. She loved to decorate cakes for the family and friends, making wedding cakes for her daughter Sonja and niece Jeanine Cook. Always ready with a decorated cake when the occasion arrived. She also loved to crochet, make crafts, and knitted sweaters for her grandchildren. She loved to be outside whether it was working in one of her two gardens or her flower beds. She was always busy. She also enjoyed playing the organ and would share some of her music with the fiddlers when they played at the Senior Citizen Center at Kendrick.

She is survived by three children, Lee E. Swanson of Moscow, Sonja Lohman of Southwick, and Dixie Porter of Lewiston; eight grandchildren—nine great-grandchildren, and one step-great-grandchild.

Services were held Thursday, March 13 at Brower-Wann Memorial Chapel at Lewiston with Rev. Jim Miller officiating. Cremation will take place following the service.

Songs were sung by Sharon and Larry Mix of Spangle, Sharon is a great niece of Adaline. Songs were "Just a Closer Walk", "In the Garden", and "How Great Thou Art."

From a Loving Daughter

In the last sixteen years my mother and I became very close—she was my best friend. We shared wonderful times together, going out to lunch with my sister, Dixie, shopping and baking. Mom loved to cook, bake, decorate cakes, crochet, play pinochle and work outside in her gardens—she had two—and early one and a later one, and her flower beds. Mom loved spring when she would work awhile, rest awhile and was always tickled when my sister, brother and I would help her out. The last couple of years were quite a struggle for her.

She always enjoyed Sundays and she would fix a large meal and have baked goods ready for company. Our families would say, "We had a feast." It was always the best! In winter Mom would do a lot of crocheting, making hundreds of dollies, some of which she shared with her family. The rest were washed, starched and put away in a large drawer.

Mom was a perfectionist. Whatever she tackled, whether it was making crafts, baking, cooking, crocheting, or playing the organ, she always made sure it was perfect to her.

She loved her family and always looked forward to our family get-togethers in July.

All I can say is she was one in a million and I'm proud to have had her for a mom.

Bye, Mom, I love you.

—Sonja

FROM ADALINE'S FAMILY—

We would like to thank the ambulance crew on their loving concern and care when they took mom to the hospital last Tuesday evening. To Jane Ford, Christine Clayton, Judy Foster and Opal Lohman—Thanks, you were wonderful.

More Than Pancakes on Agenda at March 18 Grange Meeting

By Bob Hassholdt
Kendrick Grange No. 413

Kendrick Grange No. 413 invites the residents of the Kendrick-Juliaetta area to a pancake supper on Tuesday, March 18 starting at 6 p. m. The menu will be pancakes, hash-browns, sausage or bacon and scrambled eggs. There will be no charge though donations will be accepted. We have also invited the county commissioners from Latah and Nez Perce county to join us. Plan on joining us for a great pancake dinner and the opportunity to talk with your commissioners one on one.

At our March 4 meeting we discussed our upcoming meeting with the school board on March 13. We'll be discussing the formation of a student trial and court system to handle first time misdemeanor offenses.

We also had a visit from John Perry, a representative of Bentley and Cross. Bentley and Cross is working with the Port of Lewiston to purchase the Arrow to Moscow rail line and put it back into active service. Currently the line is owned by A-K Salvage of Salt Lake City. A-K plans to tear up the rails and ties and sell them to other rail lines. They have said that they will sell the line "as is" for 3.25 million dollars which Mr. Perry said is an exorbitant price. Bentley and Cross has set up a meeting with A-K on March 18 at 3 p. m. at the Port of Lewiston offices. The purpose will be to negotiate a purchase agreement. The purchase and continuation of this line is receiving support from the Idaho Department of Commerce, Senators Bruce Sweeney and Margurite McLaughlin, the Port of Lewiston, and private companies and investors from around the region. The Arrow to Moscow line is the shortest line between Lewiston and Spokane. It is also the shortest line between Lewiston and points east.

If this line is reopened it would allow freight traffic to once again move through the area. Mr. Perry also mentioned that B&C also owns two steam engines that would be brought back into service as tourist trains. The Grange will have one or two representatives at the March 18 meeting. We'll be glad to discuss what we've learned at our pancake supper that night.

Children will Help Parents Observe 52nd Anniversary
Norman and Dolores Olson of Juliaetta will be entertaining their three children, Larry of Oxnard, Calif., Ronald of Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin and Laureale Littleton of New Foundland, Pennsylvania, Mar. 20-26th. At this time they will also celebrate their parents' 52nd wedding anniversary.

Laureale will be remembered as the wife of Douglas Littleton, pastor of the Assembly of God Church in Kendrick before moving to Pennsylvania in 1991.

A reception for Laureale will be held at the Olson residence Sunday, March 23rd from 2:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon. All her friends are cordially invited.

EMT Sausage Feed, Family Fun Night Saturday Evening

The biennial Juliaetta-Kendrick E. M. T. sausage feed and family fun night will be Saturday evening, March 15. The dinner menu includes excellent sausage made by Lathan Meats of Orofino. The E. M. T.s have purchased 450 pounds of the sausage which will be served with sauerkraut, mashed potatoes and gravy, cole slaw, baked beans, dinner rolls and homemade pies. Coffee, milk and punch will also be available. Dinner prices are $6 adults, children 6 to 12, $3, and pre-school children are served free. Family tickets are available for $20. Dinner will be served from 4:00 to 7:30 p. m.

The meal is just the beginning of the evening's excitement. There will be an auction at 7:00 with local auctioneer Wayne Harris calling for bids on a wide variety of items from tools to handicraft specialties.

For the children (and adults) there is bingo, a fish pond, games, raffles and door prizes.

This is a time to show some community support to our fine crew of volunteer EMTs and EMT drivers. Without their dedication and sense of community spirit we would not have the fine service we far too often take for granted.

Take a minute to reflect on how fortunate we all are to live in two fine communities such as Juliaetta and Kendrick. Not many communities can boast of the fact that this is a community that really does care about its neighbors.

If anyone is interested in becoming an EMT or driver there will be a booth at the Saturday dinner that can explain what is needed to become one of these volunteers.

The EMT unit wants to thank all who have given of their time and effort, made donations, and encouraged the sausage feed workers over the past months. Planning an event such as this takes much planning and preparation and the support of the public is vital to success.

Incidentally, the key to a satisfying meal is good cooks and quality sausage. Once again Jerry Galloway and his crew will prepare the food with the help of volunteers. The VFW Auxiliary will operate the bingo games and KHS students will run the carnival games. Help from 4-H clubs and the Kendrick FFA chapter will be working throughout the evening.

A THANK YOU

Child Care Provides Challenges, Opportunity, And Responsibilities

"Help! I need child care for my infant. I'll be working three days a week and every weekend. My hours vary and sometimes I'll be working in the morning, but mostly it will be in the evening after 7:00 pm. Could you please send me a list of quality providers available to meet my needs?" This is just one example of the type of request that comes to the resource/referral office at Community Action Agency. It is an example of the growing demand of parents looking for child care. It is also a precursor of the trend that is predicted to follow welfare reform changes as of July 1, 1997. As a community, there are important creative challenges and opportunities before us.

Creative Challenges
People can't work or attend trainings without child care. The child care demands are no longer for 8 to 5 jobs. Child care is needed round the clock, every day of the week, weekends included. It is needed for the usual ages, but an increase in demand is expected for infant care, after school programs, and special needs care.

Opportunities
Not only are the hours for child care changing, but the desire for good quality "effective" child care is being demanded. High quality "effective" child care makes the difference in school readiness, economic development, job productivity, and in preventing future welfare dependence and anti-social behavior. Child care providers must be willing to get adequate training in child development, CPR-First Aid, and HIV-AIDS awareness. They must be willing to provide skill development through activities for the five selves: cognitive, social, emotional, physical, and creative. They must be willing to keep up-to-date immunization records. They must be willing to share their love and nurturing ways with parents and children alike. Child care is no longer "a babysitting job", it is a profession that must be regarded as such by both the child care provider and the community.

Responsibilities
As a community, we need to look at these creative challenges and opportunities before us. Helping the working poor find a way to stay self-reliant is important to everyone in the community. Providing child care to meet the many different shifts, ages, and days will take further examination. Possible solutions might be for individuals to ask themselves if they possess the abilities and desires to join the child care profession or to become a team member willing to provide child care. Businesses might examine the possibility of beginning a child care facility for their employees or adding a stipend to their employees' wages to help pay child care expenses. Whatever the solutions, change must happen and soon. Please take the time to consider the issues around child care.

Treating Baldness: Hair Transplants are An Option for Some

Genetic makeup is the primary cause of hair loss in most people. Although some may believe you inherit hair loss tendencies only from your mother, multiple factors influence your genetic destiny. Other causes of hair loss include hormone abnormalities, vitamin deficiency, thyroid disease, stress, malnutrition, and some medications.

"Hair loss may start at a young age but most commonly begins among men in their 30s or 40s," says Dr. Craig Murakami, associate professor of otolaryngology at the University of Washington School of Medicine. "The older you are when hair thinning begins, the less severe your hair loss is likely to be."

Murakami explains that the majority experience hair loss at the loss experience thinning in the middle of the head—the location of testosterone receptors that trigger hair follicles to shrink. The hair on the remaining area of the head, sometimes referred to as the fringe, usually stays fairly thick. Women, on the other hand, primarily experience hair loss at the temples or a general thinning of hair throughout the head.

While hair loss is difficult to prevent, it can be treated. One option available to help reverse hair loss is transplants.

Hair transplants involve removing hair from one portion of the head and grafting it into the balding area. Advances in hair transplant procedures have improved physicians' abilities to restore natural-looking, permanent hair lines.

In a hair transplant procedure, doctors will remove a strip of hair from the fringe area in the back of the head. These hair follicles are then inserted into the bald or thinning area in tiny plugs, called micro or mini grafts, that contain one to five hair follicles each. Though hair transplantation is a painstaking procedure, Murakami says replacing hair follicles individually lets physicians create a natural look.

Hair follicles that are replaced on the head will not fall out but will continue to grow as they did in their previous location, Murakami says. Though transplants cannot completely restore all hair loss, Murakami explains they can be used to restore a natural hair line.

"The procedure is permanent," he says. "It will give the look of much thicker hair."

Procedures are performed on an outpatient basis and usually last two to three hours. Up to 300 hair follicles can be replaced during one session. Murakami explains that patients usually require three to four sessions, at a cost of $1,200 to $2,000 per session.

As important as the procedure itself is the counseling of patients prior to the transplant procedure. Setting realistic expectations and establishing a hair line that will be age-appropriate in years to come is one of the biggest challenges, Murakami says.

"Many men want to hold on to the hair line of an 18-year-old," he explains. "This will not look natural as they age."

Hair transplants are just one of many options. Other treatments include the use of over-the-counter medications such as minoxidil, hair pieces or even hair weaves.

Murakami says that some people receive favorable results from minoxidil and it is a worthwhile option to try before considering surgery.
