Letters to the Editor . . .

Editor:
Bill, you must feel like you stirred up a hornet's nest with all the response to your article on shopping locally. The Gazette has been mighty interesting reading lately.
So what does it take to succeed in business in a small town, or anywhere else for that matter? Why are some thriving and others struggling?
When I need a part for our old tractor I go to Fleming Equipment. When I have needed printing done I have gone to the Kendrick Gazette. When I need floor covering or formica I stop by Snyder's Home Center. Not just because they are local or the owner is my friend, although it is true in each case. But mainly because in each example this is the BEST place I know of to get what I needed. I could give other examples but I think you all get the idea here.
It is to all our benefit to support our local merchants. Nobody wants to have to drive 60 miles round trip to get a jug of milk or auto parts or medicine or nails or the many other things that are available here in our town.
But that support must be earned. The consumer will naturally seek out the best value for their dollar spent. This is how a free market economy works. There is no shame or guilt in getting the most for your money.
One time I was in Tidyman's in Lewiston and I asked a lady working with a price scanner where to find something. "Oh, I'm sorry I can't help you," she said. "I work for Albertson's and I'm here comparing prices as part of my job." Some of our local stores could stand to do a little of this themselves. Until they do, our poor folks will have to shop at Safeway or better yet Walmart, where we can get what we need at prices we can afford.

Thanks to Those Who Helped Make Father, Daughter Dance a Success
Thanks to the help of many people the recent dance was enjoyed by over sixty fathers and daughters. After numerous complications we were wondering if it would ever come together, but thanks to the wonderful people in this community it finally did.
The first thank you must go to the staff of Juliaetta Elementary, especially Mrs. Fredenberg and Melissa Eichner. They both put up with countless interruptions (is it okay if we . . . ?), changes in dates and encouragement (This can be done). Melissa also made our fliers and distributed them. A very big thank you also needs to go to Lisa Broeke for being our photographer with only two days notice. Thanks to her the girls will have a wonderful keepsake of the dance.
The Paffie family all joined forces and spent a gorgeous Saturday making this event possible. Jerri and Jaycee decorating, Stephanie baking, and Jerry picking up our McDonald's juice and hauling off our debris after the dance.
Thanks also to Stacey at the Juliaetta Market for the movie rentals and Zana at the Pizza Bank for donating pizza as door prizes. Pepsi and McDonald's donated the drinks. The Jr. Miss Committee let us use the waterfall, and Chuck Scott got the paper from Pollatch for all the decorations. Bob Novak came in early Saturday and cleaned the school so it would look nice and Nancy Hammond helped man the refreshment table.
An extra special thanks to Mike Cook for making and donating the hope chest for the door prize again this year (Erika Lambert is the proud winner). Also for the use of his most prized possession, his stereo. We know it wasn't easy to give it up. Thanks to all who stayed to clean up and anyone we may have forgotten to mention. The biggest thanks belong to all those dads, grandpas and in one case, a mom, who made the evening so great by spending that special time with their girls. We couldn't have done it without you all!

May 10 Bike-A-Thon Will Support Juliaetta Elementary

The "Bike-A-Thon" for children that annually creates much interest for young people in the community will be held Saturday, May 10 and the starting point will be at Kendrick City Hall. Registration will be from 12:30 to 4 p. m.
This year's Bike-A-Thon will be much the same as in previous years except for one big difference. This year, all the proceeds from the event will stay in the community and will be used to purchase much-needed playground equipment for Juliaetta Elementary School. The equipment presently used is very out-dated.
The committee is applying for several grants in addition to using the money from the May 10 project. Playground equipment is very expensive. St. Jude Hospital (the previous beneficiary) has been notified of the change and they expressed full support of the need here in our community.
How to participate:
* Turn in a completed registration form to Melissa Eichner at JES by May 1. You must register on time to participate.
* This year you must wear a helmet!
If you do not have a helmet, there will be some available to borrow for the event.
Any baseball players with conflicting game schedules should call Shari or Lori if they wish to participate.

Season's Final Card Party Well Attended

The V. F. W. Post and Auxiliary concluded its winter series of card parties Saturday evening, April 26 with nine tables in play. Patty Ostman was the high winner for ladies and Ray Vincent won high for the men. The low prizes went to Francis Peters for the ladies and Roger Courtwright for the men. Bruce Spang took home the "Goose" and Brent Hutcheson won the door prize drawing.
The VFW extends its thanks and appreciation to each and everyone who came in support of the card parties and those who faithfully furnished snacks.
The proceeds from this card party will be given to Debbie Gregerson to be used toward the expense of constructing and furnishing a youth center out of the old Washington Water Power building which she has purchased for that purpose. Good luck, Debbie, we wish you much success in your endeavor to organize this much-needed facility.

Teachers Appreciation Day Set for May 6

The first week of May has been designated as National Teachers' Appreciation Week and May 6 is National Teacher's Day.
This community has been very supportive of the local schools and its teaching staff.
Let's show our appreciation to those who give so much of themselves to educate our children.

Now's the Time to Begin Thinking About Entries In Festival Children's Parade

Locust Blossom Festival will be here Saturday, May 31 and now is time to be thinking about entries in the children's parade.
The theme this year will be "The Great Outdoors"—so ideas for decorating should be endless!
Starting place for the children's parade will be at Kirby St., between the Kendrick Garage and Joyce Clemenhagen's home.
To be judged, parade contestants should be there by 9:30 a. m. Categories remain the same—groups; decorated bicycles; pets, costumes; and mini-floats.
If you have any questions, call Shari Pea (276-3821) or Joyce C. at 289-5217.
We hope to see you—in costume—May 31st! Let's make it the best parade ever!!

V. F. W. Auxiliary Committee Thanked for Efforts By Ronald McDonald House

For some time now a small committee of Auxiliary ladies of Baker-Lind Post 3913, Veterans of Foreign Wars in Kendrick, have been collecting "pull tabs" from soft drink and beer cans for recycling. At latest count the group had collected over 55,000 of these tabs and given them to the Ronald McDonald House in Spokane.

Earlier this month Darlean Wilson, coordinator for the local drive, received the following letter from McDonald's:
Dear Darlean:
Thank you very much for your recent donation of pull tabs. We are getting support from all over the northwest and have received many calls and letters about this recycling program. We take the pull tabs or cans to a recycling center and turn them in for money. So far, we are averaging about $400 per month which goes into our general operating fund to meet House expenses.
The Ronald McDonald House will celebrate its tenth anniversary in April of 1997. Our fourteen bedrooms remain full most of the time. We hope that as a contributor you will continue to take an active interest in the service we are providing.

Sincerely,
Julie Moyer
Executive Director

Naturally Darlean and the volunteers were most pleased to receive this recognition and say they will continue to collect pull tabs and get them to Spokane for this project.

Please Have Recyclables On Curbsides by 7:30 On Thursday Mornings

Dave Deans, who operates Davey's Recycling under an agreement with the City of Kendrick, has asked that those who take advantage of this free service to please have their recyclable items out on the curb for pick-up by 7:30 on Thursday mornings.

About the Festival Art Exhibit—

It's time once again for the Locust Blossom Festival Art Exhibit. Anyone wishing to show their talents may do so at the annual Locust Blossom Festival taking place Saturday, May 31. The art show will not be held in the Grange Hall this year because of the expanded Garden Club flower show. We will still be asking people to bring their work in on the Friday before the festival, so keep your eye on the paper and when a suitable place is found, it will be published. And remember, we're looking for local art from any member of the community, so don't be shy.
Contact Andrea Mason, 289-5949 for details.

Hill & Valley Garden Club Plans for Festival Day Flower Show May 31

Hill and Valley Garden Club met Wednesday, May 23, and the Flower Show Committee made plans for the Mini-Show to be held in the Grange Hall during the Locust Blossom Festival Saturday, May 31. Entries and judging will take place in the morning and the show will be open to the public at 12 noon.

The club will again present Good Neighbor Awards to persons in the communities represented by our membership. This certificate is to show appreciation to gardeners who are outstanding in beautifying their yards or public landscape.

Sharon Harris had presented a diagram of the City Park and explained what has been done and what areas needed landscaping and assistance in furnishing plants and help in planting. The club has discussed the plan and will furnish some planting and volunteer help as needed. We have already agreed to furnish plantings to the group which is cleaning up the area around the public rest rooms.

The director of the University's Arboretum notified the club that its donation for a plot at the arboretum has been gratefully received. The money will go toward a plot of roses of European derivation and bronze plaque with the club's name, the type of roses, and the date: Arbor Day, April 25, 1997.

Club librarian Marcia Player was granted funds to update the club library. She has purchased The Sunset Garden Book and has asked for suggestions from members as to what other books might be good additions.

Margie Wilken, Donna Weyen and Cindy Patrick reported on plans for the May meeting where members will take an overnight trip to Field Springs State Park to study wild flowers and birds. The date set is for May 28 and 29.

Trailblazers 4-H Club Members Have Been Busy

The Trailblazers 4-H Club have a quilt on display at the Red Cross Pharmacy that was made by Dorothy Plank and given to the club for a fund-raising project. Tickets may be purchased at the Pharmacy. The winning ticket will be drawn on Locust Blossom Festival Day May 31st.

On Saturday, April 26th the Trailblazer Club had its beef weigh-in at Moscow. Those attending were Ben Marek, Drew Brammer, Chris Blair and Chris's cousin Katey. The steers all weighed around 800 lbs. or over with one animal weighing 1100 lbs. All the members were pleased with the results.

Saturday, May 17th, the Trailblazers plan on having a highway clean up project to clean Highway 3 from Clarence Alexander's home up to the junction going up to Deary. A potluck lunch will be held at the small mini-park at the lower end of Kendrick, across from the former Drive-n. A meeting will follow after lunch.

Kendrick FFA Livestock Team Places Second at North District Judging

Richie Hitchcock, Trevor Grose-close, Andrew Heimgartner, Seth Parks and Rusty Lohman made up the livestock judging team for Kendrick. The team placed eighth out of the 34 teams and finished second in the North Idaho District. Great job, livestock judges!

The State livestock judging will be held in Moscow on June 5. These students will be representing Kendrick in Moscow at that time.

The Kendrick FFA participated in the Asotin County Fair Judging Contest on Friday, April 5. Kendrick placed 15th overall in Horse Judging and placed 5th in the District competition. Members of the horse judging team were B. J. Watkins, Patrick Hamilton, Anna Brown, and Marie Eckroth. Kyle Paige and Mysti Solberg were alternate judges. The Idaho State Horse Judging Contest will be held in Gooding on July 8 and 9. It is hoped to have some of these students participating in Gooding.

Possible Reasons for Effort to Maintain, Expand Local Retail and Service Businesses

By Frank Jacobson

It's been nearly seven years since the Kendrick-Juliaetta Community Development Association targeted some actions meant to improve the economy of local retail and service businesses. In its application to the Idaho Department of Commerce to achieve Gem Community status, the association listed long-term and one year goals for improvement in three areas: infrastructure, business retention and expansion, and economic diversification.

In these years the association has made important contributions to the improvement of the community of Kendrick-Juliaetta, most notably in the area of infrastructure improvement. In the other two areas there appears to be less to show for, largely because of a tendency to be too easily discouraged or a failure to pursue certain goals with any kind of vigor—in some cases even shunning them completely.

Now there is an opportunity for the association and the community to rededicate themselves to business retention and expansion in the retail and service sectors. The Division of Extended Programs and Community Development at Lewis-Clark State College is interested in seeking grant funds to develop better strategies in dealing with business retention and expansion. This topic, along with others of concern to small towns, will be discussed at a meeting of Rural Partners at the Williams Conference Center on the LCSC campus this coming Monday, May 5, beginning at 10:30 and ending at 3:15. Please call (208) 799-2465 to be sure your name's in the pot for lunch.

Association business retention and expansion goals showing progress include that of compiling and publishing an inventory of all businesses in the Kendrick-Juliaetta area—developing and implementing at least one promotional project for retail and service businesses; encouraging and supporting the establishment of two new businesses in the area; and publicizing existing tourist attractions both locally and regionally.

Among goals undertaken and subsequently abandoned was long-term goal No. 4, which reads as follows: "Become aware of and sensitive to consumer attitudes and practices with reference to shopping in the Kendrick-Juliaetta area. There is clear evidence that the area's economic bucket has a hole in it—more than one, as a matter of fact. Local business people need to become aware of the attitudes and practices of the local consumer."

As printed in the Gazette back in 1990, the goal statement continues, "Why does he (the local consumer) go on into Lewiston to buy what he can buy right here at home? Why does the woman go up to Moscow for a service that's available in Juliaetta or Kendrick? How loyal to the home town are local shoppers? And if they're not loyal, why not? The local business person needs to have answers to these kinds of question before he can begin to devise ways to change consumer behavior—and thus prevent or diminish continuing leakage."

Follow-up on this long-term goal took two forms in 1992: First, the Small Business Development Center at Lewis-Clark State College sponsored a local workshop on the topic. The Gazette's headline for the April 2 issue reads, "Keeping Dollars at Home Involves Many Factors, Residents Told." In a follow-up story on April 16, we learn, "The merchant, according to survey after survey, lacks knowledge of the consumer—his needs, his attitudes, and his buying habits."

Second, in an attempt to furnish local business people such information, your reporter designed and administered a local telephone survey with the assistance of Pollatch Telephone Company and an enthusiastic group of Kendrick High juniors and seniors. This was done at the request of the local Business Retention/Expansion committee. The results were subsequently tabulated and reported in some detail in the Gazette of July 30, 1992. There was, however, no attempt on the committee's part to consider constructive ways to use the information gained. The material laid gather. The material was filed away.

Three long-term goals that in this reporter's view still deserve active consideration by the association are those calling for a program of business visitations to determine local business plans and needs; for investigating the possibility of having a trade area capture analysis done for our area; and for devising strategies to expand the trade capture area of local businesses.

Don't let the professional jargon discourage you, for behind the language are activities that could help the local retail and service business person make better decisions. The professionals in state and federal agencies and institutions of higher learning really can make a difference if only we'll make a concerted effort to learn from them. The opportunity can be ours once again. Let's take advantage of it. It sure beats the hand wringing that some would substitute for vigorous action!

See you at the Williams Conference Center next Monday morning?

Park News

by Jody Smith

(Delayed from Last Week)

First, a correction of an article in the Gazette two weeks ago—Leah Smith plans to marry Eric Johnson Saturday, June 14, not June 4. Sorry for the slip up.

Recent visitors with Karl and Wanda Enger have been her sister and brother-in-law, Inez and Terry Willenborg of Juliaetta. Sunday guests were Inez's daughter and son-in-law, Pam and Jim Walk and Kevin of Southwick and a nephew, Bobby Mullins, wife Jenna and daughter Michelle of Orofino. Clinton and Ethel Smith visited Sunday evening, as did Danny Watts.

The Enger's biggest news is the bright "For Sale by Owner" sign on their place. Although neighbors hate to wish them bad luck on the sale, they have mixed feelings about letting the Engers complete their plans to move back to Lewiston.

Ethel Smith visited Margaret Racicot and Lynn Rains on a recent trip to Deary.

Jeff Schroeder joined Jerry and Jody Smith for lunch on Monday. That evening Jay and Judy Lyon and daughter Patrice visited from Pullman. On a business trip to Lewiston on Tuesday, they enjoyed a store asile visit with Eldon Wilson and in the parking lot, a visit with Jerry's nephew's wife, Vickie, (Mrs. Ben) Weber and son, Jerry was at Ruthie's for a brief visit.

Other visitors with the Smiths this week were Jake Beyer and grandsons Michiel and Bradley of Bovill, Don Smith of Moscow and Mark Bernard of Troy, Robert Browning and Ryan Mosee, Moscow, Wanda Enger and Steve and Tracy Johnson and sons Cody and Tyler of Park.

Jody enjoyed a few hours vacation Sunday afternoon when she was accompanied by Lynn Rains on a trip to Moscow to see the Palouse Patchers quilt show. (Our judgment?—Marvelous as usual!)

(This Week's News)

Good Luck to our downriver neighbors in Kendrick and Juliaetta. From the looks of the creeks around Park they might need the luck... and a rowboat!

Clinton and Ethel Smith visited Jerry and Jody Smith Monday evening.

Saturday saw Ethel and Jody traveling to Medical Lake, Wash. to attend a wedding shower for Ethel's daughter Leah, and Eric Johnson.

Jerry and Jody Smith were joined by Mickey Duross in Deary as they traveled to the home of the Smith's daughter and son-in-law Barbara and Dean Kinzer, Joy and Erin for Sunday dinner and a good visit.

Monday visitors with Karl and Wanda Enger were her brother Bob Mullins, Orofino and Tony and Darlene Lawson and son Mark of Ohio. Karl's cousin Arnold and Lois Mael visited from Helmer Monday evening.

Monday activities with the Jerry Smiths included visits from Lee Horning and Jim Bower, Avon; Denis Jain, Bovill, and Carl Johnston and Kyle Halseth, Deary. In the evening Jerry went to Karl Johnston's to help with veterinary chores and Jody attended the M&M's ladies group meeting at the Deary Community Church.

Walking Is a Great Exercise

You don't need great athletic skill, expensive sports equipment or a fitness club membership to exercise. If you're looking for a simple way to exercise, why not try walking?

"Walking is one of the safest and lowest cost exercises around," says Nan Lopez, health promotion specialist at the Northwest Prevention Effectiveness Center at the University of Washington School of Public Health and Community Medicine. "It can improve your health, give you energy and simply make you feel better."

Research studies have shown that regular brisk walking can substantially reduce a person's chances of dying of heart disease and cancer. Walking can also help control weight, blood pressure and blood sugar and, when combined with adequate calcium intake, can help strengthen bones and reduce the risk of fractures. If these benefits aren't enough, Lopez points out that people who walk regularly also report experiencing an increased feeling of well-being and better sleep almost immediately.

Exercise is vital for people of all ages. Lopez points out that some older adults may be fearful that the increased heart rates and movement accompanying exercise could lead to a heart attack or broken bones. However, most of those age 50 and over can walk safely if they begin a gradual and sensible program.

When beginning a new walking program, Lopez says you should start gradually and move at your own pace. A good guide to the proper pace is the talk test. While walking you should be able to carry on a normal conversation. If you are unable to do so, slow down the pace. Try to walk a little further or longer each day until you can walk briskly for at least 20 minutes. Lopez points out that the amount of benefit you get from walking depends much more on the amount of time you walk than upon your pace.

For safe walking, warm-up and cool-down periods are needed. The body should be prepared for physical activity by stretching or walking slowly for approximately 10 minutes. After walking briskly, the body needs a chance to cool down to return to the resting state. You can slow the pace of the walk toward the end or do some stretching exercises when you are finished.

Be aware of signs of overexertion. These include any of the following: labored breathing, excessive sweating, irregular or falling heartbeat, blueness in the lips or fingers, chest pains, dizziness, nausea or lack of coordination. Lopez stresses that if you or anyone you walk with experiences any of these symptoms, stop and rest. If the symptoms don't go away, get immediate medical attention.

To get started on your walking program, first map out a route that is both interesting and fits your goals for distance or time. Be sure you have comfortable shoes that fit well and give your feet good support. Drink water before you walk, during your walk on hot days, and when you finish.

Walking can also be more fun with company. If possible, try to find a friend to walk with, or even consider joining a mall-walking club. Lopez recommends keeping a written log of how far and how long you walk each day and rewarding yourself when you reach new goals.

"It's never too late to start a new exercise program," Lopez says. "For many people, walking is a great option."
