Sharing the Asset Message . . .

C. N. Partee, Principal, KHS

I recently had the opportunity to attend a workshop on Community Asset Building and would like to share, in the next few weeks, some information the Search Institute has developed on "Healthy Communities, Healthy Youth." The information will be taken from resources provided by the Search Institute, an organization supported by Lutheran Brotherhood, which also provides financial services, community services opportunities, and philanthropic outreach in communities nationwide. If civic organizations would like more information or would like someone to present to their club or organization, please contact Kendrick High School.

A NEW PERSPECTIVE:

In today's society, we are constantly bombarded with messages about problems facing our children and youth: failure in school, violence, alcohol abuse, teen pregnancy, and suicide. And we have invested a lot of time and money in trying to FIX these problems. You see, the goal of a problem-focused approach is to reduce or control risky behavior through prevention or intervention programs, such as social services, treatment, or, when the problem becomes too severe, incarceration. A limited number of professionals—often supported by public funds—do most of the work.

Some of these strategies have been effective. But at the same time, they only treat the problem and often neglect the causes. Alone, they fail to do the job.

By focusing on the problem, we make temporary repairs. A problem-centered focus does not allow us to look at how we treat children and youth. At best we see moderate change in behavior—at worst we see increased violence and failure in school.

It does not have to be this way. A new approach that can be summed up as "asset building" is an approach that challenges communities such as Kendrick to tap the caring, creative energies of families, neighborhoods, schools, congregations, and others to rise to the challenge to provide a healthy community committed to helping youth.

Next week: Exploring Developmental Assets.

Development Assoc. Gets First Hand Demonstration of Distance Learning System

Members of the Kendrick-Juliaetta Community Development Assoc. received a first-hand demonstration of the new Video-conferencing equipment recently installed at Kendrick High School at a luncheon meeting Thursday noon in the KHS cafeteria. Association members were guests of the school and Dr. Eldon Taylor, Dist. 283 superintendent and Charles Partee, KHS principal.

Kendrick is one of eight area high schools where primary video sites have been established under a Distance Learning Alliance which is coordinated by Kevin Carson, distance education coordinator for Lewis-Clark State College and grant administrator for the Distance Learning Alliance. All locations have internet access and are able to connect to video facilities at LCSC. Other schools connected to the new system are at Lapwai, Orofino, Prairie, Deary, Genesee Potlatch and Troy. Project financing is provided by a federal and state grant, Lewis-Clark State College and contributions from corporations such as TDS TELECOM.

Doug Taylor, a technician from LCSC, was also at the meeting on Thursday to help the school demonstrate the new equipment and its potential uses.

Two large television sets were in operation at the school—one showed the local setting and members of the Development Assoc. present. The other screen showed Doug Taylor and CEDA coordinator Dodd Snodgrass at the LCSC site.

Development Assoc. president Dana Magnuson, speaking on behalf of his group thanked the School and LCSC for the fascinating and informative luncheon. Irene Thornton and her school lunch staff provided an excellent luncheon. Anne Anderson, of the school's faculty also provided help and answered questions from the association members.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Editor:

What is happening to our area of the country when someone will come on or near your property and kill your dog? The incident I am referring to happened 3 miles up the Genesee-Juliaetta Road from Juliaetta on March 7, in the early afternoon.

Abby was a beautiful miniature Sheltie, loving and kind and was expecting her first litter in 6 weeks. She never left our property. She died in extreme pain by herself as we had been gone for the day.

We would like the person(s) that did this to know that they killed my handicapped daughter Jennifer's pet and broke all of our hearts. Jen keeps asking me why? I can't answer that as I need to know the answer also (why?).

If you have a conscience of any kind, you will come and apologize for all the senseless heartaches you have caused.

KHS Students Created Mural for Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation Banquet March 7

The Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation has expressed its pleasure and gratitude to the members of Mrs. Peggy Burtenshaw's Art Class at Kendrick High School for a 12x24 foot canvas mural created and displayed at the Foundation's annual banquet and auction in Lewiston March 7.

In addition to designing and painting the mural, which was used as a backdrop at the banquet, a number of handcrafted birdhouse made under the direction of KHS teacher Mary Eveland, were sold at the auction during the banquet.

The design of the mural was first sketched by KHS students Amber and Alecia Brocke. Most of the work was done after school on Feb. 19. A pizza party was enjoyed by the young artists who worked on the project. The students who helped were:

(In no special order) Justin Cohee, Melissa Clemenhagen, Richard

Vincent, Chelsie Middlekoop, Russel Vincent, Brandy Harrington, Ronda Crickett Berg, Noah Barnett, Brittany Fiske, Melanie Stockard, Myssi Solberg, Ronda Berg, Rebecca Leonard, Ryan Vincent, Bryan Nelson, Brittany Perzchica, Tara Nelson, Shelbi Clemenhagen, Drifter Nibler, Lynann Richie, Rusty Lohman, Brock Silflow, Ginny Elder, Christian Cutshaw, Anna Magnuson, Josh Ehli, Bryan Jones, Heather Moss, Amber Brocke, Alecia Brocke, Holly Nibler, Katie Carpenter, John Schmitt, Garner Quigley, Tyler Williams, Tara Wyan, Silas Parks, and Vanessa Pea. The work was accomplished under the direction of instructor Mrs. Peggy Burtenshaw.

At the live auction some of the students, who had built what were judged outstanding birdhouses, Josh Roetscoeder, Marcus Lohman and Adrian Novak, and teachers Marvin Eveland and Peggy Burtenshaw, were introduced and thanked for outstanding contribution. The students held their birdhouses during the bidding and then took them to the winning bidders. The tally of the houses held and the ones sold in a silent auction which had been decorated with corn, milos, millet, flowers, okra, nuts, cones, mosses and lichens, amounted to over $700 for the Foundation's charitable work. Also in attendance at the banquet were Dr. Eldon Taylor, Adrian's parents, Tammy and Robert Novak, Marcus' father, Jeff Lohman and Josh's father Craig Roetscoeder.

Elaine Galloway, a RMEF committee, said the the Foundation would like to personally say thanks to the students and teachers for all their work. Elaine also thanks her crew of Eharon Hoogland, Tanna Ragan, Judy Hallsy and Ruthie Wilson for their efforts and Potlatch Corp. and Bill Wall, Pat Pendell and Ray Long for all they did to make the entire project a success.

Legislative Newsletter From Rep. Tom Trail

Week of March 13

Visionaries: We are all in the stretch run in the Legislature. We voted on 35 bills yesterday, and our target date is still the 20th of March.

1. Burnt Toast Evacuates Capitol Building—at 11:45 a. m. on Tuesday while debating the vicious dog bill, the alarms went off and everyone evacuated the Capitol building. We thought it might be a bomb scare or a fire. It turned out to be Rep. Redi Hansen's sordid dough bread stuck to a toaster emitting enough smoke to run us all out of the Capitol.

2. Charter Schools—The Senate passed the Charter School bill with one negative vote. The Governor will sign the bill next week.

3. Head Start—This program failed to receive funding this year. Attempts will be made to get funding as a line item in the Department of Education budget in '99.

4. 129,000 Truck Weight Bill—This bill passed out of the Senate Transportation Committee by a 5-4 vote. It now goes to the Senate for a vote. Senator Schroeder expressed resentment over what he thought were threats aimed at trying to get him to change his vote. There is intense lobbying pressure.

5. Consolidated School Bonding Bill—This bill passed the Senate by a 29-6 margin. The plan would cut the cost of school building up to $40 million over the next 20 years. The savings would be achieved by lowering the interest rate school districts pay when they borrow money to put up new facilities. The state would back the plan with its AAA bond rating. Similar plans work in 19 other states. The legislation would not cost the state any money. No school district in the state has ever defaulted on their bonds. This is a good bill but it is only one part of the solution.

6. Highway 95 Bill—The outlook is not good on this bill. Senator Jack Riggs, sponsor of the bill, reported there are enough votes in the Senate to pass it. This bill has been amended to put on the November ballot as an advisory vote by the citizens of the state. There is a good chance that the bill even as amended may not get out of the House.

7. HB773—Under this bill the Superintendent of Public Instruction would become essentially the President of the State Board, setting the board's agenda and calling meetings. Some supporters viewed this position as an "Education Czar." The bill was strongly supported by Anne Fox and Rep. Ron Black (candidate for State Superintendent position). The bill was held in Committee by a 10-8 vote.

8. Salaries for Elected State Officials—The House passed a bill that would set the Salary of the Governor from $85,000 to $95,668/year. This would be phased in over a four-year period. This figures out at about a 3% increase per year. Similar increases are proposed for other state officials. House members were concerned that the increases were somewhat comparable with the increases for state employees.

9. County Liquor License Bill Killed—The House State Affairs Committee rejected a bill that would have helped rural clubs with wine and beer licenses get a liquor license. County Commissioners would have been given authority to grant the license.

10. Capitol Defense Fund—Legislation which would provide a public defender in death penalty cases was sent to the Governor. The bill sets up a Capitol Defense fund. Counties that choose to pay into the fund could draw on it when they have a case.

It has not always been easy to get a haircut in Copenhagen, Denmark. The world's longest recorded strike—concerning the employment of barber's assistants—ended there on Jan 4, 1961 after 33 years.

Most people over 40, x-rays reveal, have some degree of degenerative joint disease.

An ermine is only called by that name when its fur is white in the winter. In the summer, when its fur turns brown, it is called a stoat or weasel.

Seniors Observed 24th Anniversary Of Meal Site Program

By Louise Pea, Manager

Over 80 people were present at the Senior Center Wednesday, Mar. 11, to observe the 24th anniversary of the local Meal Site Nutrition Program in the Kendrick-Juliaetta area. The patrons and guests enjoyed a program with Newell McGahey and Russell Topp and listened to words of congratulations and encouragement from Pearl Bouchard, the director from Lewiston.

We were honored with the presence of Jim Bower, who was one of the original supporters of the Meal Site and who helped build the Senior Center and also did much volunteer labor throughout the years until his health prevented him from being so active. Jim now makes his home near Troy with his daughter and son-in-law Linda and Lee Horning, and we appreciated Linda's bringing him down for this occasion.

We were also blessed to have Anna Fairfield, another of our original crew, as was her husband, Bid, who was unable to attend. Anna also worked many years as a volunteer, and she also called seniors in Juliaetta to see if they needed a ride to the center. My husband Lyle would then drive the Fairfield station wagon around to pick them up. Lyle and Louise, Anna and Jim Bower were the only four who were able to be present this year, who have been there since the beginning of the program.

Lyle, who has been a volunteer for the past 24 years, still delivers dinner to the shut-ins, helps with the cleaning chores and other jobs.

Our present volunteers were recognized and thanked. Some of these have worked with us the past six or seven years and all have several different jobs and we are very proud of them. Mrs. Brochard presented each of the volunteers with small tokens of appreciation. The volunteers honored were: Willard and Jane English, Wally and Betty Fraser, Harold and LenaBelle Larson, Juanita Craig, Loretta Hawkins, Marie Grant, Ross Armitage, Lyle Pea, Erna Nelson and Judy Ranta. Shirlee Richie and Delores Polumsky were unable to be present that day.

Leann Blankenship of Juliaetta helped Louise prepare the dinner. Leann is a substitute cook who is training to be cook so she will be able to substitute for Louise in the event she is needed. She helped decorate the cake with purple flowers and green vines and purple balloons as decorations.

A large bus and two cars brought 17 people from the Royal Plaza and there were others from Lewiston present, too.

Tigers Win, Lose In Baseball Opener

Kendrick opened its 1998 baseball season Saturday at home, hosting the Kamiah Kubs and the Pottlatch Loggers. The Kubs bombed the Tigers 12-0 in the morning and Kendrick came back in the afternoon to take a 3-0 win over the Loggers.

In the morning game the Kubs jumped on starter Nate Eichner and relief pitchers Josh Fletcher and Matt Tefft for 11 hits. The game ended after five innings because of the 10-run mercy rule. Kendrick picked up two hits during the contest both singles by Tony Howerton.

Kendrick bounced back in the afternoon to blank Pottlatch 3-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Jody Brown and Luke Ogle.

Brown went the first six innings, striking out 14, walking three and hitting two batters.

Andrew Heimgartner led off the third inning with a double and was driven in by singles from Fletcher and Bryan Carter.

Tuesday (Mar. 17) the local team will be at Kooskia for a game with the Clearwater Valley Rams. On Thursday, Mar. 19 the Tigers will return for a game with the Prairie Pirates. Saturday will be a double header at Kamiah against Timberline at noon and Kamiah a 2 o'clock.
